

SENATE ENGAGED WICKERSHAM TO FIGHT IN COURT

Ex-Attorney General to Battle Stewart Move to Secure Freedom

Washington, Feb. 6—(AP)—George W. Wickersham, former Attorney General, has accepted the invitation of the Senate Teapot Dome committee to represent it in the habeas corpus proceedings by which Robert W. Stewart, wealthy Chicago oil executive, hopes to relieve himself of senate contempt charges.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, prosecutor for the committee said today that Mr. Wickersham would be here tomorrow when Stewart's hearing begins before Justice Jennings Bailey in the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

Grand jury action against Stewart is expected by District Attorney Gordon by the end of the present week. District Attorney Peyton Gordon plans to give the case to the jurors as soon as possible, acting on a certification from the Senate that the oil man had refused to testify whether he had knowledge of liberty bond transactions of the Continental Trading Company of Canada.

Transfer Voted
Transfer of the case to the courts was voted by the Senate when its effort to bring Stewart before it to face a contempt charge was frustrated by the issuance by Justice Jennings Bailey of a restraining order lifting the oil man's arrest by the Senate.

Counsel for the Senate will oppose the restraining order at the hearing before Justice Bailey on Tuesday. Should the Senate's power of arrest be upheld, Stewart still might for a time escape the Senate's jurisdiction, however, by appealing in turn to the District of Columbia Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court of the United States.

If Stewart eventually is returned to the Senate, it is the intention of Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, prosecutor of the oil inquiry and prime mover of the arrest of the oil man, to request that sentence for contempt be fixed, rather than give the witness further opportunity to testify.

Examine Couple
Two additional witnesses were examined today by the committee in a futile effort to throw light on the famous Continental oil deal which Senator Walsh, of Montana, described as fraught with suspicion at every turn.

The committee sought without success in a short session to obtain evidence as to the disposition of the huge profits of the concern.

Sheldon Clark, of Chicago, vice president of the Sinclair Refining Company, and H. L. Phillips, of Tulsa, Okla., president of the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company, were today's witnesses the questioning dealing mainly with the deal whereby the crude company, owned jointly by the Standard of Indiana and the Sinclair interests, bought oil from the Continental at $1.75 a barrel almost simultaneously with the latter company's purchase of it at $1.50. Neither could give the committee any great amount of detailed information.

Chicago Still After Republican Session

Chicago, Feb. 6—(AP)—Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, candidate for Congress next at-large, has entered negotiations with the Republican National Committee to bring the national convention to Chicago if it is transferred from Kansas City because of inadequate hotel facilities.

When the arrangements committee meets this week in Washington, Mrs. McCormick will have for presentation to it an informal petition suggesting preference for Chicago, should a change in the convention city be made. Although Chicago showed little strength on the original balloting Mrs. McCormick believes there was more sentiment than the voting indicated.

HILLES OPTIMISTIC

New York, Feb. 6—(AP)—Charles D. Hilles, vice chairman of the Republican National Committee, said today that the problem of housing facilities for the National Convention at Kansas City next summer probably will be "all ironed out" when the committee meets at Washington next Friday.

Conviction Upheld

New York, Feb. 6—(AP)—The conviction of Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, for conspiring to defraud the government, was upheld by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today. Miller was tried jointly with Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney General, but the indictment against Daugherty was quashed after two juries had disagreed as to his innocence or guilt.

There were two Daugherty-Miller trials, the first jury disagreeing as to both defendants and the second convicting Miller. Miller was sentenced to serve eighteen months in the federal penitentiary and to pay a fine of $5,000. The appeal on which decision was rendered today was argued on January 18 last.

Seeks World Court

Washington, Feb. 6—(AP)—A resolution suggesting to President Coolidge that he seek an adjustment of views between the United States and the other signatory nations to the Senator Gillett, Republican, Massachusetts World Court regarding American abuses was introduced today by Massachusetts.

FIRST "VICTIM" IN LIST OF "ELIGIBLES" PUBLISHED BY THE TELEGRAPH "CAPTURED"

Leon Miller is Winner of Prizes: Other
Desirables Left

Advertising in the Telegraph certainly pays. Last Tuesday we listed Leon Miller in our directory of eligible bachelors and Saturday he was married, thereby winning the various prizes offered and becoming the first bachelor to abandon single blessedness since the list was started.

Who will be the next to follow this wise young man's example.

Well, it certainly is getting difficult for the unmarried boys. Read what the Home Lumber & Coal Co. has to say:

"We can't let Louis Schumm get ahead of us on this Love Year stuff so we offer one ton of our best coal to the first victim on the Telegraph's list of eligible bachelors, or, if they prefer, a nice plate glass medicine cabinet, absolutely free."

So the first gent to be dragged to the altar will have, besides a wife, a nice $10 smoking stand from Mr. Schumm and either a ton of coal or a fine medicine cabinet from the Home Lumber & Coal Co. Not a bad start.

Today we have a new offering of possible and impossible husbands. We won't try to fool you and will tell you their faults as well as their virtues, if any.

Marriage is a lottery, you know, so probably you will be just as well off if you select one of these birds at random. No matter which one you get you will probably wish you had picked another.

OSCAR KROHN—Lives in Nelson and is entered in this contest by a number of his admiring friends. Better known as "Tillie." Wears a soup strainer. Invertebrate cigarette smoker. Outside of these faults he is OK.

HAROLD FISHER—A Dixon specialist. Wonderful chance for a young lady who can sew.

JAY FARLEY—A real opportunity. One of Dixon's best salesmen. Ready at any time to give a free demonstration on a sewing machine.

WM. PREBE — Woosung, Ill. Known to his friends as "Big Bill." Has a terrible temper and claims to be a woman hater, but some frail little thing will take all that out of him.

NILLIE NAGLE — Prosperous young farmer. Member of Woosung Owl Club. Will flirt a little if given any encouragement. Lives on Bachelors' Row. Only those who can drive a truck or tractor need apply.

HERMAN HANK — Well-to-do South Dixon farmer. A little shy but gentle and kind hearted.

PAUL NEWCOMER—Now here is a fine young chap who should be given serious consideration by the girls. Wears his hair combed.

NED BICKLEY—Courteous assistant at Krohn's Furniture Store. Can't cook his own breakfast but is house-broke and not too old to learn.

VICTOR EICHLER—We recommend this chap. Fine looking and always a gentleman, no matter how painful. Dark hair and romantic eyes. Good business man.

ROY ROSSITER—Employed at Grand Detour Plow Shop. Good dancer. Frequent visitor in Chicago. Full of vim and vigor.

RUSSELL GRAY—Farmer. Lives on Dutch Road. Has a car. Shakes a wicked foot on the dance floor.

LEON BAXLEY—Our investigators report that there is another young man of excellent character. Has remarkable table manners.

WILL ANDRUS—Leap Year has no terrors for him, because he has weathered many a storm. Wealthy and generous. Has been worked on by experts so we can offer you only a faint hope ladies. Home is in Grand Detour. He is a Class A offering.

IRA SCHROCK—Has built many homes so maybe he'll build one for you. You should hear him sing.

WILLARD JONES—There are several of these Jones boys and they are all nice. Willard's complexion is his own. He likes quiet people. An undertaker.

V. X. SMILEY—In state highway office. Has a nice cottage on the river. These highway fellows never stay single very long in Dixon. Catch yours early.

CALEB BRACKETT — Another sweet highwayman. From Massachusetts. Likes coffee and has that eastern accent. Fine dancer.

CHARLES WADDLEWORTH — Drives a snappy car. Long and red headed. (Charles, not the car.) The girls say he is a prince of a fellow.

FRANK PRATT—Quiet and reserved and a perfect gentleman. Would make an ideal companion. Retired merchant.

TED TATLY—Peaches and cream complexion and alluring blue eyes. Has been fighting the girls off for some time and his resistance may be worn down.

FRANK COE—Substantial citizen. Lodge and club member and man about town. Probably believes he is immune, but, you know, the bigger they are the harder they fall.

ARTHUR BLUM—Farmer. Lives near Nachusa. Is a good-mannered sheik with a nice sedan.

Consider the list of prizes being offered, gentlemen. It is not often that Dixon merchants offer wedding gifts such as are mentioned in the beginning of this article. Your smoking set or your medicine cabinet may console you even if the bride who picks you turns out to be a lemon.

Sic 'em girls. It's your turn this year.

NEW TREATY IS SIGNED BETWEEN FRANCE AND U. S.

Supersedes Root Arbitration Pact That is Soon to Die

Washington, Feb. 6—(AP)—A new arbitration treaty with France was signed shortly after 11 o'clock today by Robert E. Olds, Under-Secretary of State, for the United States, and Ambassador Paul Claudel for France.

Revision of peace treaties between the United States and France became an accomplished fact with signature of the pact.

The treaty supersedes the Root Arbitration treaty which expires Feb. 27. It will become effective, however, only upon ratification by the legislative bodies of the two governments and the formal exchange of ratification copies.

As is customary, the text of the new treaty will remain confidential until it is made public by the Senate on Foreign Relations. In substance, however, its terms already are well known, including a general declaration in the preamble against resort to war coupled with an expression of hope by the two republics that a day will soon come when all nations will have abandoned war as an instrument of national policy.

Then the Dominican republic in turn paid honor to the flyer. A great military parade was held in its honor and Colonel Lindbergh reviewed it to the cheering of a large crowd.

Evan E. Young, American minister, gave him a luncheon which President Vasquez and other high officials attended.

Ten Men Reported
Adrift on Ice Floe

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 6—(AP)—No trace of ten fishermen believed to have been marooned on an ice floe in Lake Erie was found by William Lee, assistant city editor of the Buffalo Evening News, who flew over the lake in a chartered airplane today.

While all agencies of the government Marine Service scoured Lake Erie today for ten fishermen reported adrift on an ice floe, an airplane was held in readiness at the Buffalo airport for a flight over the lake in an attempt to locate the men.

Some doubt was expressed today that the men are missing. Nathaniel Duffy, director of the airport, piloted a plane along the Canadian shore yesterday after he had received reports from two sources that the men had been carried out into the lake, but found no signs of the men on the floes beneath him.

Residents of the Canadian shore, however, felt certain the fishermen were adrift and helpless to aid themselves in near zero weather. The search was pressed on their positive assurances.

Captain Paul Forner of the Coast Guard Service, who early today put out with a crew of Coast Guardsmen to search for the men, returned late in the forenoon without finding them.

CLAIN IS ALLOWED.
Mrs. Anna Alschlager, 4417 Upham Place, is in receipt of a very encouraging letter from Congressman William R. Johnson today. Her son, Otis, a Freese, a World War veteran, who died last September, carried an adjusted service certificate in the form of a government bonus policy in the sum of more than $1,000 which has been under investigation for some months. The letter from Congressman Johnson this morning assured Mrs. Alschlager, the beneficiary, that the investigation had been concluded and the claim allowed.

TWO WERE FINED.
Leslie Thurm of this city was arrested Saturday evening on a charge of transporting and possessing intoxicating liquor. Police reported having found two "weasies" in his possession. When arraigned before Police Magistrate A. E. Simonson, Thurm was assessed a fine of $100 and costs.

Lester Wickey of this city, arrested Saturday evening on a charge of being intoxicated, paid a fine of $10 and costs, assessed by the Police Magistrate.

REPORT HIDING PLACE.

Bureau county officials who have been aiding Sheriff Miller in an effort to locate the two alleged hoodlums notified the Lee county officials of the presence of two unknown men in that locality and the sheriff left at once to conduct an investigation.

PORT-AU-PRINCE GREET'S "LINDY" THIS AFTERNOON

Lone Eagle Continues
His Flight Toward
Havana Congress

Port-au-Prince, Haiti, Feb. 6—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh arrived at Port-au-Prince from Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, at 1:40 p.m. today.

Santo Domingo, Feb. 6—(AP)—Haiti, where Toussaint L'Ouverture led slaves to freedom, was the goal of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today.

The route to Port-Au-Prince, 160 miles by air from here, led entirely across land, unless Lindbergh in his flight should venture across the inland waters of Lake Enriquillo and Lake Saumatre.

The route passed over mountains and the forested where Voodooism was brought from Africa and practiced for many years. It led over a land where negro slaves by their own efforts freed themselves and set up a republic of which Port-Au-Prince is the capital.

Before leaving Santo Domingo, Lindbergh paid tribute to another great adventurer, Christopher Columbus, placing a wreath on his monument.

Then the Dominican republic in turn paid honor to the flyer. A great military parade was held in its honor and Colonel Lindbergh reviewed it to the cheering of a large crowd.

Evan E. Young, American minister, gave him a luncheon which President Vasquez and other high officials attended.

ANONYMOUS LETTERS CAUSE LARGE BANK IN MIAMI, FLA., TO CLOSE DOORS THIS MORN

Two Other Financial Institutions Fail to Open Today

(Telegraph Special Service)
Miami, Fla., Feb. 6—(AP)—A determined run on the First National Bank began during the noon hour today following the failure of three other Miami financial institutions to open for business today.

Other large banks reported normal business conditions.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 6—(AP)—Three Miami banks failed to open for business today. They were the Southern Bank & Trust Company, the Citizens Bank, and the Bank of Allapatt.

The Southern Bank & Trust Company requested Comptroller Amos to assume charge of its affairs pending strengthening of finances, following heavy withdrawals of deposits caused by the circulation of anonymous letters predicting its failure.

Mr. Amos ordered the other institutions not to open in the belief that they were not in financial position to withstand large withdrawals which might result from excitement incident to the closing of the Southern Bank & Trust Company.

Under normal conditions they could operate, he said, adding that there had been no sign of a run at either place.

President J. E. Lummus of the Southern Bank & Trust Company said that "large demands for cash during the last few days had been caused by anonymous letters written to depositors and advising them to quietly get their money out of the Southern bank."

The letters, he said, were signed "Hiram" and bore a crudely drawn Masonic emblem.

The police are seeking to trace the sender.

FIND BOATS IN
KING TUT'S TOMB
CARTER REPORTS

Placed There to Carry Him Over the River Styx

Cairo, Egypt, Feb. 6—(AP)—Eighteen boats intended to carry King Tut-Ankh-Amen to Heaven have been found in his tomb.

These and other discoveries in the third and fourth chambers are described in a report, just made public of Howard Carter, who is in charge of the work of exploring the tomb.

The flotilla is a reminder of the ancient custom of providing the dead with means of transport to the other world, thus making them independent of the services of Charon. (Charon in Greek mythology was a morose old man whose duty it was to ferry the souls of the deceased over the Styx.)

Another discovery in the third chamber was a number of beautifully carved figures of human beings. These were to serve as substitutes for King Tut-Ankh-Amen in case Osiris, ruler of the dead, should impose tasks of penitence upon his new subject which would not be befitting to the dignity of one who was a King upon the earth.

The report also describes the canopic jar of carved alabaster containing the Egyptian ruler's viscera, and an elaborate canopic chest enclosing the jar.

The chest also of alabaster is guarded at each corner by a like statue of the Tutelary goddess, each containing a reproduction of the great gold coffin of the king, were found. The king's head, finely sculptured in alabaster, was on each cover.

What were supposed to be heirlooms were in another nest of coffins. One of them contained a gold statuette of Amen-Hotep, a predecessor of King Tut-Ankh-Amen, and a lock of hair of Queen Tyi.

The fourth chamber was found by Carter to be in extreme disorder, evidently due to robbers seeking gold.

Mystery Surrounds
Harry Hill Defense

Ottawa, Ill., Feb. 6—(AP)—What tack the defense will take in its attempt to prove Harry Hill, 22 year old Streator youth not guilty of matricide, was as much a mystery today as when the case began more than seven weeks ago.

Presentation of the defense of the youth, accused of shooting to death his mother, Mrs. Eliza A. Hill, and burying her body in the basement of their Streator home, was scheduled to begin tomorrow afternoon.

The prosecution closed its case last week, asking the jury to convict the defendant on circumstantial evidence, which it contended showed Harry was the only person who could have killed the woman.

What young Hill's defense will be has remained a mystery. His lawyers were reported to have a list of 47 witnesses, including Harry, his father, Dr. D. C. Hill, and possibly a surprise witness.

Murphysboro, Ill., Feb. 6—(AP)—Mrs. John Collins, 25, of Duquoin was in a critical condition in a hospital today as result of injuries suffered last night when the automobile in which she was riding collided with a car driven by Deputy Sheriff Crisberry of Jackson county, one mile north of DeSoto. SPECIAL GUARDS FOR JAIL BUDDY OF WM. HICKMAN

Planned When He Takes
Stand in Slayer's
Sanity Hearing

Los Angeles, Feb. 6—(AP)—When Dale Budlong takes the stand in the sanity trial of his fellow jail prisoner, William Edward Hickman, to tell how the latter came to write him a letter revealing Hickman's plan to stage a "laughing, screaming, diving act" in court, a special guard will be provided for him.

Plans for this guard were announced today by the sheriff's office after disclosing that Hickman delivered a wild tirade to jailers in which he threatened Budlong. The move to strengthen the guard over Hickman also was actualized by an anonymous letter which the authorities received declaring Hickman would be "dead in five days."

Prosecution attorneys said they considered Budlong's testimony which will deal with circumstances under which he received the letter and conversations he had with Hickman, of importance.

Budlong probably will not testify at once, for the move of the defense in calling prosecution witnesses to recount the youth's crime, caused the state to reverse its plans. As a result, prosecution alienists, first scheduled to be the last witnesses to be heard, now are being questioned at the opening of state's rebuttal. Other states' witnesses, including acquaintances of Hickman, will follow the experts to the stand.

"Skin Writing" Test
Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 6—(AP)—The "skin writing" test to which Hickman was subjected in court Saturday gave no proof of a diseased condition associated with dementia praecox. Dr. Paul Bowers, state alienist insisted under cross examination, today.

OLD MASTERS

Teach us the strength that cannot seek.
By deed or thought, to hurt the weak;
That, under Thee, we may possess
Man's strength to comfort man's distress.
Teach us delight in simple things,
And mirth that has no bitter springs;
Forgiveness free of evil done,
And love to all men 'neath the sun.

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST—Sliced canned pineapple, cereal, cream, minced lamb on toast, whole wheat and raisin muffins, marmalade, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Creamed sweetbreads and mushrooms on toast, hearts of lettuce with French dressing, sliced oranges and bananas, drop cookies, milk, tea.
DINNER—Casserole of macaroni and beef, pepper and cottage cheese salad on fresh watercress, peach Bavarian cream, milk, coffee.

The success of a macaroni dish depends largely upon the selection of a good brand of macaroni, careful cooking and proper seasoning. Macaroni must be cooked until tender but not over-cooked. Overcooking makes it pasty and sticky. After cooking for twenty minutes in rapidly boiling, salted water, drain and rinse in cold running water.
Casserole of Macaroni and Beef.
One cup broken macaroni, 3 thin slices bacon, 1/2 pound round steak, 2 onions, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 cup boiling water, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 1/4 teaspoon chili powder (optional), 1/2 cup fresh mushrooms.
Cut bacon in dice and fry to fat. Coarsely chop or dice beef. Add to bacon fat and brown well. Add onions cut in thin slices, water, tomatoes, salt and chili powder and brown sugar. Cover and simmer two or three hours or until the meat is tender. In the meantime cook the macaroni until tender. Turn into a buttered casserole, pour over the meat sauce to which the mushrooms, sautéed for five minutes in a little butter, have been added and bake twenty minutes in a hot oven. Serve at once from the casserole.

The mushrooms of course can be omitted but they add much to the savoriness of the dish. Dried mushrooms can be soaked for an hour in water to cover and, cooked with the sauce of canned ones, can be added in place of the fresh ones.

Series Delightful

Mrs. Mahlon R. Forsyth and Mrs. A. Foster Moore entertained last week with a series of charming parties, the first one, an at home on Wednesday afternoon, being largely attended; followed on Thursday with a most enjoyable bridge luncheon, and concluding on Friday evening with a delightful dinner, followed by bridge.

Thursday afternoon guests for ten tables at bridge were entertained at the Forsyth home, a profusion of brilliant and fragrant flowers, including red tulips, red roses, and delicate cream colored freesias with ferns, gracing the rooms in artistic arrangement.

Favors at bridge were awarded to Mrs. John Davies, Mrs. Ray Miller of Dixon and Mrs. Roy Brink of Amboy.

On Friday evening Mesdames Moore and Forsyth entertained fifty guests at dinner, the tables being banked with red tulips, cream colored freesias, snailax and red tapers. Valentine favors were used, and an intriguing color scheme in black and red was followed. An elegantly appointed dinner was served. Afterwards ten tables of bridge were formed, and a delightful evening was thus enjoyed, prizes being awarded to Mrs. E. M. Goodsell, Mrs. Alfred Leland and Amos Bosworth and F. L. Edwards.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

Who is Mrs. Coolidge's maid, if any? The many charming costumes in which the First Lady was photographed from hour to hour on her Havana trip made one wonder about the maid who must keep her clothes in constant condition and be helpful in "the quick changes," and yet no mention has ever been made of her. Can it be that the First Lady draws her own bath and sews on her own snaps and presses her own pleats? Of course not, and yet where is Celestine or whoever she is?

ENGAGEMENT RING

A young man took his fiancée and her parents into a jewelry store to pick out the engagement ring. That was the day before the wedding. The parents introduced him to the jeweler whom they knew. The ring was selected. "I would like to show this to a friend of mine who is a diamond expert," the bridegroom-to-be said. The jeweler permitted it. The parents went home. The fiancée and fiancé took a cab to the hotel where, said he, his diamond expert friend was staying. He went in while she waited. He never came back. The jeweler tried to make the parents pay. The court ruled they didn't have to. A warrant is out for the fiancé. She had known him nearly a year.

The little story is told just for the obvious comment that even long engagements don't necessarily give one a real "line" on the spouse-to-be, and is it any wonder that the holy estate doesn't always work when the facts of character are such a secret thing?

THE BRAT'S DOLL

The value of a hobby is shown in a new guise in that amusing new flapper novel, "The Ellington Brat," by Berthe Mellette. Loretta, the brat, amuses herself in periods of depression and boredom by dressing a mascot doll. "It was to be more bizarre than any doll that ever existed inordinate legs in knots on a beauty shop dressing table. She was experiencing great difficulty in stitching silver pajamas on the unruly members, but by the trial and error system was beginning to see a way to success. She kept the doll hidden in a shoe box in her dressing room, and took it out only when she was alone."

There are so many bored souls to whom one would like to give the brat's recipe.

POTATOES—DOING 'EM UP BROWN

By Sister Mary
NEA Service Writer
If you have ever noticed people around you when dining in a restaurant or hotel you will discover that many men choose French fried potatoes. Evidently most housewives fight shy of serving potatoes this way at home and since Mr. Man particularly likes the golden, crispy sticks, he must humor his appetite when he dines "out."

There are several varieties of potatoes fried in deep fat; it's all in the cutting of the potato as to which you have. Of course the meat determines just which sort to choose. Lattice potatoes must be cut with a special cutter, but shoo-strink, French fries, Saratoga chips, potato curls or potato dice can be prepared with a sharp paring knife.

There is one precaution in preparing potatoes for deep fat frying. Be sure the pared and cut potatoes are kept completely covered with very cold water until ready for cooking. This prevents discoloration and causes that delicious meanness inside the crisp coating of French fried potatoes.

If a fat thermometer is used it should register 400 degrees F. when the potatoes are put into the fat. The cold vegetable will lower the temperature so a hot fire is needed to bring the temperature up to 485 degrees F. Choose potatoes of uniform size and shape so that they will cut in uniform pieces. Allow about one and one-half potatoes for each person to be served. Wash and pare, carefully removing all eyes. Drop at once into cold water as each potato is pared. Cut in lengthwise slices about three-fourths inch thick. Cut these slices lengthwise in three-fourths inch strips and let them stand in very cold or ice water for one hour.

When ready to cook, take out as many strips as will cover the bottom of the frying basket and drain and dry between towels. Place in basket and lower into the fat. Fry until they are a golden brown. Lift from fat and turn onto soft crushed paper. Sprinkle with salt and keep hot until all are fried and ready to serve.

Shoo string or shredded potatoes are cut in slices about one-fourth inch thick and these slices cut in one-fourth inch strips. They are soaked in cold water for one hour and drained, dried and fried like French fries.

Saratoga chips are cut in paper-thin slices crosswise of pared potatoes and dropped immediately into cold water. Let stand one hour, changing the water twice. Drain and changing the towels—a few at a time. Drop into hot fat and fry until a golden brown. Drain on soft paper, sprinkle lightly with salt and serve warm or cold.

Saratoga chips can be kept for several days and reheated and crisped in the oven.

ETHEL:—

sponsor of large families, begged him rather pathetically to use his influence with men who outgrew their wives, and with children who grew up with more respect for their fathers than for their mothers.

She declared that her husband, "accustomed to mix with the highest minds in the country," refused to discuss things with her. "You wouldn't understand if I did tell you," she quoted him as saying. The older children took the same attitude. They would discuss things with their father but if she made an attempt to mix in the conversation she received merely a curt "Oh, Mother, you wouldn't know."

They admired their man-of-the-world father, at forty-five, but to them their mother was merely a creature who could keep house and make them comfortable, and not to be thought of as a mental equal.

To them she had given her mind, her body, her beauty, her life. This was their gratitude.

In Roosevelt's memoirs he remarks: "Whenever a man thinks that he has outgrown the woman who is his mate, he will do well carefully to consider whether his growth has not been downward instead of upward."

Referring to selfish and ungrateful children he wrote: "I believe in unselfishness, but I believe that it is also a mistake to let other people grow selfish even when the other people are one's children."

But I don't know I can't think it is always the mother's fault when children are selfish. It's born in some of them.

FASHION HINTS—

BUTTONED DRESS
Yellow crepe fashions a smart frock that buttons from hem to the shirt collar with square yellow buttons. Its skirt has side pleats.

LARGE KERCHIEF
A tan estaminee golf frock uses a very large kerchief in browns and purple-red that winds about the neck and around the body and ties on one hip.

YELLOW HAT
Banana bakou fashions a large hat that has a high, rounded crown and an irregular brim, shaping from a wide left side to almost nothing on the right.

FLARED CUFFS
Tight hats tend to have flared cuff brims this spring. A black bally-bunt gives a tricorn effect with flat front and flaring side cuffs.

SOFT HAT
A soft little hat of beige angora has a deep brown ribbon cockade up both sides. Its brim is faced with deep brown.

CIRE RIBBON
Ribbons are streaming everywhere this spring. Lingerie, hats, bags, dresses, and suits all use them. An Independence blue jersey frock has cire ribbon edging it and trimming it.

MUCH FULLNESS
New slips show the authority of the new flaring silhouette by appearing with much fullness, arrived at by pleats, godets or fine tucks.

SILVER JEWELRY
Silver heads the list of metals that smart costume jewelry is fashioned from this year. One set has silver triangles for earrings, elbow bracelet and necklace.

NEW PLEATS
A rose and red printed linen frock has one way pleats running around the skirt. It's hem is jagged and so is the bottom of the jumper.

EMBROIDERED JACKET
Ubiquitous is the jacket this spring. A white silk frock banded in red and gold has an embroidered red and gold jacket of hip length.

SMALL SCARFS
New fox scarfs are small usually one skin and are longer than will comfortably go around the shoulders and meet in front.

SMART JABOTS
Jabots are in their heyday. A crimson and black one-piece frock has double jabots on the blouse and skirt section.

HOSIERY COLOR
Dark sunburnt stockings are the latest thing in hosiery. Palm Beach and its fad for deep sunburnt faces inspired the color.

LACE INSERTS
Racine lace godets, in black, give fullness and delightful contrast to a princess combination in maize colored crepe de chine.

OWL HAT
White owl heads at each side give a certain new width to a turban of narrow white silk straw braid.

Fail to Fix Slate to Fight Thompson

Chicago, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Today, the first for the filing of nominating petitions for the April primaries in Cook county (Chicago) saw United States Senator Charles S. Deneen on his way to Washington after the failure of his associates to draft a slate to oppose that of the Mayor Thompson-State's Attorney Crowe faction.

While Senator Deneen was here he conferred with faction allies regarding an opposing slate. Leaders of the Deneen group planned to meet again today.

First nomination petitions to be filed received preferred position on the ballot, but those offered today will not be officially filed until the Supreme Court has dissolved the injunction against the County Clerk and Secretary of State, which was granted before the court's recent ruling on the primary.

The wedding was a quiet one, the couple being unattended. The bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Toot of Route 8; and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Washington Miller. The bride's wedding gown was of tan satin crepe and was most becomingly made, her hat and wraps harmonizing with her gown. "IDOL WORSHIP."

An article in the current Magazine of Wall Street remarks that "idol worship" is a highly important factor in stock market dealings.

By this it means that there is a whole host of investors and speculators in Wall Street which follows implicitly the moves of certain "big names." If William C. Durant, for instance, is reported buying stock in a certain corporation, the "idol worshippers" rush to do likewise—with the result that the price goes sailing.

To some extent this is based on sound reasoning. If a successful financier like Durant thinks enough of a stock to invest in it, it ought to be good enough for other people to invest in, too. But the magazine writer points out one defect in the practice.

When one of the "big names" sells his holdings, the fact usually is not advertised. Thus, the writer says, "the idol worshippers follow the sanctified footsteps into the stock market but not out of it." The net result is apt to be that the unthinking investor loses his shirt.

The old rule still holds good don't buy stocks unless you know exactly what you are doing.

FARM AND INDUSTRY.

A new solution for the lack of prosperity in small agricultural communities is proposed by T. R. Preston, president of the American Bankers' Association.

He suggests that industries locate in the small cities of farm regions. This, he says, would increase local markets for farm produce, increase public revenues and reduce taxes.

This dovetails somewhat with Henry Ford's idea—that industry and agriculture ought to interlock, so that farm hands could spend the off months working in factories.

It sounds reasonable enough. All that remains now is for some industrialist—and why not our friend, Mr. Ford, for instance?—to give it a trial.

SALVE FOR THE HURT.

A Nevada woman recently sued another woman for alienation of her husband's affections. She demanded $50,000 damages.

Thousands of such suits have been filed in this country, and many a woman has collected handsome damages thereby. But this suit had a different ending.

Judge George A. Bartlett of Reno dismissed it, ruling that human affection is not property and cannot be treated as such. One can give or withhold one's love as one's heart dictates, he said, and no court should be called on to intervene.

His decision seems to us a bit refreshing. The loss of a dear one's love is a heart-breaking affliction; but it isn't the sort of hurt that calls for money as salve.

A TRAGIC FIGURE.

In all the unpleasant turmoil surrounding the murder trial of young William Edward Hickman at Los Angeles, one figure stands out as truly pitiful and deserving of sympathy—the boy's mother.

That is not to say that her plight should make his punishment less severe. It should not. The fact that she is an innocent sufferer should not be offered in extenuation of the dreadful thing he did.

But she merits our pity, nevertheless. The greatest sorrow that can come to a mother is hers; and while we can demand strict punishment for her son, we can at the same time give her our deepest sympathy.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Red Riding Hood stopped near a hand. Said Scouty, "Make her understand that we are very friendly. She's afraid of us, I fear. I'll tell you what we'd better do. Let's wave. Perhaps she's friendly, too, and if she is I'm sure that she will promptly walk up near."

So all the bunch waved for a while. Red Riding Hood began to smile. "Hello, these little lads," said she. "I'm glad to see you all. I'm going now to Grandma's home, but fear I've come over on my road. In fact I got so frightened I was just about to call."

One Tiny cried, "What frightened you? Say, is there something we can do?" Red Riding Hood replied, real quick, "A wolf is on my trail. He's followed me for, oh, so long, and I feared something would go wrong. I'm very scared of wolves, you know. That's why I am so pale."

Just then a howl broke through the air, and Copy shouted, loud, "Be-ware! The wolf is very near us and we'd better all look out." Red Riding Hood then joined the crowd. Of their protection she was proud. The Tines dog began to bark. What was this all about?

"Oh, there it is," weedy Carpy cried. "I saw the wolf. He's trying to hide. He's right behind that great big tree. We'd better grab some stones, and if he charges us, we'll fight, and maybe chase him out of sight. Say, if I hit him with a rock, I'll surely break his bones."

The hound then spied the big wolf too, and right up toward him promptly flew. "Go get him," shouted Scouty. "We will track him to his lair." The hound and wolf raced out of sight while each and every Tiny-mite began to pick up little stones and hurl them through the air.

(The Tynmites go to a queer house in the woods, in the next story.)

SAINT and SINNER

Cherry had not been out of the house five minutes Wednesday morning when Nils Jonson's telephone call came. During breakfast, and those last hurried minutes while Cherry had been giving Hope her nine o'clock bottle, Faith had prayed that the call would come while Cherry was still there.

But fate was ironic. Five minutes after Cherry had left the house, tight-lipped and pale with the disappointment that the morning mail had again brought her, the telephone rang long and insistently, proclaiming the fact that it was "long distance" calling.

"Nils speaking, Faith," the rich voice came, startling clear. "I'm in Darrow. I'll be tied up here all day on business, but I'd like to drop in this evening, if I may."

"Can't you come for dinner?" Faith asked hopefully. Cherry was not to leave for Marlboro until half past eight.

"I'll make it if I can, thanks, but don't count on me. I'm trying to finish up here today, and there are a lot of legal papers to be prepared and signed. Something rather big, Faith, but I'll tell you all about it tonight."

Whether he concluded the conversation abruptly or whether the connection was accidentally broken Faith did not know, but the result was the same. She had no opportunity to tell him of Cherry's engagement for the evening.

She was so concerned with the possibility that Cherry and Nils might not see each other at all on this hurried business trip of Nils' that Faith gave little time to speculating on the nature of the "something rather big" of which Nils had spoken, nor did she mention to Rhoda, who was as excited over the prospect of a visit from her brother, as if he had been a sweet heart.

Cherry was at home by half-past five. She whirled gayly through her duties for the baby, whisked her off for a brisk walk in the stingingly cold air, came back almost dancing with exuberance and looking as beautiful and carefree as if she had never suffered a heartache in her life.

"Going to have fun, Faith, old dear!" she sang ecstatically. "Going to have heaps of fun! Lord, but I'm simply ripe for adventure. Got to wash my hair and manicure my nails. Hoop-la! Ain't it a gr-r-and and glorious feeling to be young and beautiful and all dated up for a swell party?"

Half an hour later Cherry was sitting on a hassock at Faith's feet, busy with nail file and buffer, while Faith, using a big soft Turkish towel, was rubbing the wet, short curls to dry them.

"Wouldn't it be funny if Bill Warren proposed tonight?" Cherry remarked casually. "Poor duck! He's been half-scared to be seen with me, since my disgrace."

"Please don't, Cherry," Faith begged. "You were acquitted."

"Of murder—yes," Cherry shrugged her slim, bare little shoulder.

Poor Bill has been as loyal as his family and friends would let him be, and now I think I detect the well-known glitter in his eye. Yes, Faith, I have a hunch I'm going to be proposed to tonight."

"Are you going to accept him?" Faith asked in a voice that was suddenly slow and dreary.

"Half a loaf, darling! But—I don't know! All dry? I'll dress then!"

Officials of the Geo. D. Whitcomb Company have just announced one of the largest single sales ever made by them. Thirty large locomotives have been sold to the Russian Imperial Railways Commission through the Amtorg Trading Corporation, of New York. This order calling for 20 12-ton and 10 18-ton gasoline locomotives will represent a Russian investment of about a quarter of a million dollars. Delivery starts Feb. 25 and continues on March 18 with final delivery April 1. This order, secured in the face of spirited competition, is to be used by the Russian government in exploitation and development work in Turkestan and Afghanistan. Russia is building 1000 miles of new railway in this rich, virgin territory. The new road is to connect at its northern end the present trans-Siberian system.

Cosgrave's Visit to U. S. is Ended

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—William T. Cosgrave, head of the Irish Free State, was aboard the Olympic, homeward bound, today without having met Eamon De Valera, opposition leader, although both were guests of New York for several days.

The two Irish political leaders had no opportunity to meet, neither being invited to attend functions at which the other was a guest.

President Cosgrave, as the last event on his program, was guest at the Emerald Ball at the Waldorf-Astoria, the hotel at which De Valera is stopping. The latter, however, had not been invited.

President Cosgrave was greatly fatigued, said Dr. John J. Killen, of Chicago, his physician, and attended the ball against his order. He went from there to the Olympic, which sailed for Southampton early this morning. The pier was heavily surrounded by a police guard but no outward incident occurred. De Valera is not returning to Ireland for several days.

Prison Guard Shot

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Joseph Tinney, a deputy keeper, was shot to death at the state prison here today and a convict was critically wounded in a pistol fight in the corridor leading to the dining hall. The identity of the wounded prisoner was not made known.

According to early reports, two inmates opened fire on Tinney with automatics as they were being marched to breakfast. Tinney fell mortally wounded as other deputies rushed to his assistance, firing as they ran. The wounded convict's comrade was disarmed.

THREE VETERANS OF LEE CO. BAR WERE EULOGIZED

Golden Anniversary of Trio Celebrated at Bar Banquet

The Golden Anniversary banquet given by the Lee County Bar Association Saturday evening at the Hotel Dixon, honored three members whose practice at the bar of this county has taken them well over the half century mark: Charles Elery Ives of Amboy, Charles Barton Morrison and James William Watts of Dixon.

Two honored guests who were to have addressed the meeting of the attorneys, Hon. Adam C. Cliffe of Sycamore, judge of the United States district court; and Hon. Oscar E. Heard of Freeport, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Illinois, were unable to be present. The former was to have spoken upon the active life of Attorney C. B. Morrison. Hon. Charles F. Preston of Paw Paw who was to have talked on the legal life of Charles E. Ives was also unable to be present.

At the completion of a delicious banquet, President W. H. Winn introduced Judge Harry Edwards, who explained the purpose of the business meeting. He stated that the attorneys of Lee and adjoining counties had gathered to honor the long and honorable career of three members of the local bar. In conclusion Judge Edwards stated that the attorneys were honoring themselves while honoring these three members of the bar who have won the confidence, respect and trust of the public of Lee county.

Charles E. Ives.

Attorney John Erwin very fittingly talked to the more than a half hundred members of the bar and their guests on the active life of Charles Elery Ives of Amboy.

He came to Amboy as a boy at the age of 12 years. He was a passenger on the first passenger train on the Illinois Central to enter Amboy when the railroad ended at that city. He has been practicing at the Lee county bar over 60 years. He was born in Oswego, Ill., and his father, the late William Ives was the first county attorney, now called State's Attorney of Lee County. He was well grounded in the law and an excellent advisor, and now at the age of 84 he continues to practice and give sound advice to his clients.

In concluding his remarks, the speaker exhibited a volume of Blackstone, printed at Lincoln's Inn, England, May 1, 1803, which had been in the Ives family for almost a century.

Charles B. Morrison.

Attorney Hiram A. Brooks of this city, who spoke upon the active life of Hon. Charles B. Morrison, told his listeners that they were raised together in Marion township in this county. Attorney Morrison, he said, was keen of mind, quick of perception and vigilant in battle in the court room.

Hon. Anthony J. Clarity of Freeport, judge of the Illinois Court of Claims, was present to speak upon the active legal life of James W. Watts, in whose class the speaker studied his chosen profession and became one of the outstanding lawyers of the state.

Judge Clarity spoke in high terms of the Lee County Bar Association, which had as members such eminent and able characters as the late Hon. William Barge, who thirty years ago was one of the strongest characters of the bar of Illinois. After a brief reminiscing, the speaker named Hon. Solomon Bethea as another state wide important lawyer and a prominent legal light in the earlier history of the Lee county bar.

Watts is Eulogized.

"To me, it appears that it should be an inspiration to the citizens of Lee county to contemplate the work done by these men, Barge, Bethea, Dixon and Watts. Of the latter, it is impossible to picture the effect of his teachings, the logic he has expounded or the principle of common law he has expressed. It was not alone the teaching of the principle of law but the instructions to his pupils to be loyal and faithful to the profession and give their best to their clients and to keep and maintain the confidence of the court, that has made an outstanding figure of Judge Watts, whom we have gathered together here this evening to honor."

"The bar of Lee county is singularly honored by the presence of a lawyer-guest of the ability of Judge Watts. Many of you, like myself have been students in his classes. It is impossible to consider the importance of the Lee county bar in Illinois without first considering such founders of this organization as Barge, Bethea, Dixon and Watts."

President Winn read messages of congratulations from Supreme Justice Oscar E. Heard of Freeport, Judge William J. Emerson of Oregon, Albert G. Watson and Charles L. Barton of the state board of law examiners, co-workers with Judge Watts.

Sterling Veteran.

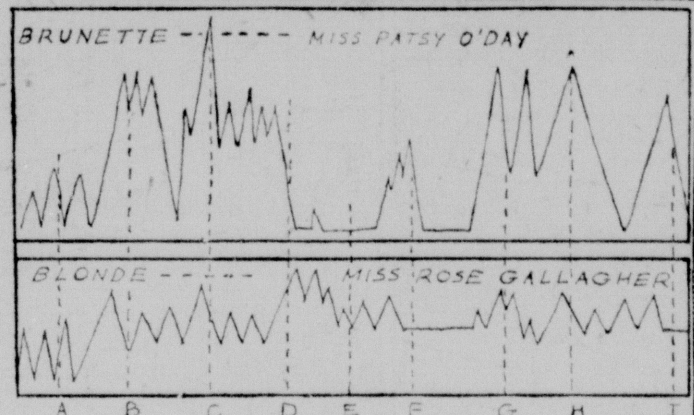

Hon. Walter Stager, veteran of the Whiteside county bar who accompanied a delegation from Sterling, gave a short but interesting talk. The speaker was admitted to the bar of Illinois at the April term of the Supreme Court in 1868 together with Attorney Ives of Amboy.

Judge James W. Watts, one of the three in whose honor the anniversary celebration was planned, was the only one to be present and was called upon for a few remarks. In a very impressive manner, he responded to the remarks of the evening. Attorneys Clyde Smith and Albert Hanneken concluded the program by relating interesting reminiscences of law school days as members of Judge Watts' class.

Delegations were present from the Whiteside, Ogle and Stephenson county bar associations, a gathering of more than fifty attorneys being present.

GIANTSHIP HAS DIFFICULTY IN "MAKING" CANAL

Saratoga Taxes Locks of Panama on Trip
Through to West

Colon, Panama, Feb. 6—(AP)—Having climbed a narrow flight of three steps from the Atlantic Ocean, the giant aircraft carrier Saratoga today rode at anchor in Gatun Lake, 85 feet above sea level. Because of the great width of the ship it was considered that its voyage through the Gatun locks was the most difficult operation ever tried in the canal.

The anti-aircraft standard, part of the superstructure on the port side of the ship, peeled several feet of concrete from the top of the lock wall in passing through the middle and upper chambers. The concrete was peeled to a depth of three inches. This damage was considered slight and there was no damage to the Saratoga.

The Saratoga is 106 feet across at its widest point and the locks but 110 feet wide. The three locks through which the ship passed are 1,000 feet long and the Saratoga 888.

It required five hours for the trip of six miles from Colon to Gatun Lake. Three thousand persons gathered along the locks to watch the Saratoga.

Three more lock chambers of the same dimensions lie between the ship and the Pacific. Because of the heavy traffic in the Canal, the Saratoga will not attempt this passage until tomorrow.

Home of Campbell, O., Mayor Was Bombed

Campbell, Ohio, Feb. 4—(AP)—An hour and a half after a bomb damaged the home of Mayor T. Roy Gordon early today two suspects had been arrested and one had incriminated the other, according to police.

The men in jail are Samuel Guardule, 27, and Anthony Parish, 25. Parish said he was with Guardule early this morning when the latter took a package to the Mayor's house. Guardule denied he had a package.

No one was injured in the explosion, though Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and three children were in the house. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

A fire, apparently built of rubbish, was seen on the Mayor's porch just before the explosion, and nearby residents were on the way to the house to give the alarm when the blast occurred, wrecking the front of the house, rocking nearby buildings and breaking glass a half mile away.

Police said the plotters apparently had planned to draw the Mayor to the porch in time to receive the full force of the bomb, which had been placed at the front door.

Mayor Gordon was elected last fall after a bitter campaign, marked by charges of fraud which led to a state investigation.

Seek Monument for George Rogers Clark

Washington, Feb. 4—(AP)—Introduction of a bill to authorize the erection of a monument at Cahokia, Illinois, to George Rogers Clark is contemplated by Representative Rathbone, republican, Illinois, who is awaiting the return to Washington of Representative Irwin, republican of the Cahokia District, for a conference on the measure.

He had planned to include the Cahokia monument in a bill he recently introduced asking for an appropriation of $100,000 for a monument at Fort Cass, he said, but had not done so out of deference to Mr. Irwin who was absent from the city.

Fort Gage is near Kaskaskia, the capture of which was considered the first great achievement of the Clark expedition in opening the door to the west. Cahokia also is in the vicinity.

A Rare Banquet for Campus Smoke Eaters

Undergraduate volunteer firemen at Villanova College, Philadelphia, worked overtime while flames they were powerless to stem destroyed the main building, pictured above, and damaged a nearby monastery and church. The loss, placed at $2,000,000, would have been a half million more but for the students' swift saving of valuable altar pieces, oil paintings and laboratory apparatus. They also carried two of their fellow campusties to safety from the infirmary.

"IDOL WORSHIP."

An article in the current Magazine of Wall Street remarks that "idol worship" is a highly important factor in stock market dealings.

By this it means that there is a whole host of investors and speculators in Wall Street which follows implicitly the moves of certain "big names." If William C. Durant, for instance, is reported buying stock in a certain corporation, the "idol worshipers" rush to do likewise—with the result that the price goes sailing.

To some extent this is based on sound reasoning. If a successful financier like Durant thinks enough of a stock to invest in it, it ought to be good enough for other people to invest in, too. But the magazine writer points out one defect in the practice.

When one of the "big names" sells his holdings, the fact usually is not advertised. Thus, the writer says, "the idol worshipers follow the sanctified footsteps into the stock market but not out of it." The net result is apt to be that the unthinking investor loses his shirt.

The old rule still holds good—don't buy stocks unless you know exactly what you are doing.

FARM AND INDUSTRY.

A new solution for the lack of prosperity in small agricultural communities is proposed by T. R. Preston, president of the American Bankers' Association.

He suggests that industries locate in the small cities of farm regions. This, he says, would increase local markets for farm produce, increase public revenues and reduce taxes.

This dovetails somewhat with Henry Ford's idea—that industry and agriculture ought to interlock, so that farm hands could spend the off months working in factories.

It sounds reasonable enough. All that remains now is for some industrialist—and why not our friend, Mr. Ford, for instance?—to give it a trial.

SALVE FOR THE HURT.

A Nevada woman recently sued another woman for alienation of her husband's affections. She demanded $50,000 damages.

Thousands of such suits have been filed in this country, and many a woman has collected handsome damages thereby. But this suit had a different ending.

Judge George A. Bartlett of Reno dismissed it, ruling that human affection is not property and cannot be treated as such. One can give or withhold one's love as one's heart dictates, he said, and no court should be called on to intervene.

His decision seems to us a bit refreshing. The loss of a dear one's love is a heart-breaking affliction; but it isn't the sort of hurt that calls for money as salve.

A TRAGIC FIGURE.

In all the unpleasant turmoil surrounding the murder trial of young William Edward Hickman at Los Angeles, one figure stands out as truly pitiful and deserving of sympathy—the boy's mother.

That is not to say that her plight should make his punishment less severe. It should not. The fact that she is an innocent sufferer should not be offered in extenuation of the dreadful thing he did.

But she merits our pity, nevertheless. The greatest sorrow that can come to a mother is hers; and while we can demand strict punishment for her son, we can at the same time give her our deepest sympathy.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAI COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Red Riding Hood stopped near at hand. Said Scouty, "Make her understand that we are very friendly. She's afraid of us, I fear. I'll tell you what we'd better do. Let's wave. Perhaps she's friendly, too, and if she is I'm sure that she will promptly walk up near."

So all the bunch waved for a while. Red Riding Hood began to smile. "Hello, there little lads," said she. "I'm glad to see you all. I'm going now to Grandma's home, but fear came over me on my road. In fact I got so frightened I was just about to call."

One Tiny cried, "What frightened you? Say, is there something we can do? Red Riding Hood replied, real quick, "A wolf is on my trail. He's followed me for, oh, so long, and I feared something would go wrong. I'm very scared of wolves, you know. That's why I am so pale."

Just then a howl broke through the air, and Copy shouted, loud, "Be-ware! The wolf is very near us and we'd better all look out." Red Riding Hood then joined the crowd. Of their protection she was proud. The Tynites dog began to bark. What was this all about?

"Oh, there it is," wee Carpy cried. "I saw the wolf. He's trying to hide. He's right behind that great big tree. We'd better grab some stones, and if he charges us, we'll fight, and maybe chase him out of sight. Say, if I hit him with a rock, I'll surely break his bones."

The hound then spied the big wolf too, and right up toward him promptly flew. "Go get him," shouted Scouty. "We will track him to his lair." The hound and wolf raced out of sight while each and every Tynmite began to pick up little stones and hurl them through the air.

The Tynmites go to a queer house in the woods, in the next story.

SAINT and SINNER

Cherry had not been out of the house five minutes Wednesday morning when Nils Jonson's telephone call came. During breakfast, and those last hurried minutes while Cherry had been giving Hope her nine o'clock bottle, Faith had prayed that the call would come while Cherry was still there.

But fate was ironic. Five minutes after Cherry had left the house, light-lipped and pale with the disappointment that the morning mail had again brought her, the telephone rang long and insistently, proclaiming the fact at it was "long distance" calling.

"Nils speaking, Faith," the rich voice came, startling clear. "I'm in Darrow. I'll be tied up here all day on business, but I'd like to drop in this evening, if I may."

"Can't you come for dinner?" Faith asked hopefully. Cherry was not to leave for Marlboro until half past eight.

"I'll make it if I can, thanks, but don't count on me. I'm trying to finish up here today, and there are a lot of legal papers to be prepared and signed. Something rather big, Faith, but I'll tell you all about it tonight."

Whether he concluded the conversation abruptly or whether the connection was accidentally broken Faith did not know, but the result was the same. She had no opportunity to tell him of Cherry's engagement for the evening.

She was so concerned with the possibility that Cherry and Nils might not see each other at all on this hurried business trip of Nils that Faith gave little time to speculating on the nature of the "something rather big" of which Nils had spoken, nor did she mention that part of the conversation to Rhoda, who was as excited over the prospect of a visit from her brother, as if he had been a sweetheart.

Cherry was at home by half-past five. She whirled gayly through her duties for the baby, whisked her off for a brisk walk in the stingingly cold air, came back almost dancing with exuberance and looking as beautiful and carefree as if she had never suffered a heartache in her life.

"Going to have fun, Faith, old dear!" she sang ecstatically. "Going to have heaps of fun! Lord, but I'm simply ripe for adventure. Got to wash my hair and manicure my nails. Hoop-la! Ain't it a grand and glorious feeling to be young and beautiful and all dated up for a swell party?"

Half an hour later Cherry was sitting on a hassock at Faith's feet, busy with nail file and buffer while Faith, using a big soft Turkish towel, was rubbing the wet, short curls to dry them.

"Wouldn't it be funny if Bill Warren proposed tonight?" Cherry remarked casually. "Poor duck! He's been half-scared to be seen with me, since my disgrace."

"Please don't, Cherry," Faith begged. "You were acquitted."

"Of murder—yes," Cherry shrugged her slim, bare little shoulder.

he was dressed only in a brassiere and "step-ins," of printed white silk, sprinkled with apple blossoms and tony knots of pale green ribbon. "But not of the charge of being a heartless flirt, engaged to at least three men at the same time. Poor Bill has been as loyal as his family and friends would let him be, and now I think I detect the well-known glitter in his eye. Yes, Faith, I have a hunch I'm going to be proposed to tonight."

"Are you going to accept him?" Faith asked in a voice that was suddenly slow and dreary.

"Half a loaf, darling! But—I don't know! All dry? I'll dress then!"

Cosgrave's Visit to U. S. is Ended

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—William T. Cosgrave, head of the Irish Free State, was aboard the Olympic, home-ward bound, today without having met Eamon De Valera, opposition leader, although both were guests of New York for several days.

The two Irish political leaders had no opportunity to meet, neither being invited to attend functions at which the other was a guest.

President Cosgrave, as the last event on his program, was guest at the Emerald Ball at the Waldorf-Astoria, the hotel at which De Valera is stopping. The latter, however, had not been invited.

President Cosgrave was greatly fatigued, said Dr. John J. Killen of Chicago, his physician, and attended the ball against his order. He went from there to the Olympic, which, sailed for Southampton early this morning. The pier was heavily surrounded by a police guard but no outward incident occurred. De Valera is not returning to Ireland for several days.

Prison Guard Shot

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Joseph Timney, a deputy keeper, was shot to death at the state prison here today and a convict was critically wounded in a pistol fight in the corridor leading to the dining hall. The identity of the wounded prisoner was not made known.

According to early reports, two inmates opened fire on Timney with automatics as they were being marched to breakfast. Timney fell mortally wounded as other deputies rushed to his assistance, firing as they ran. The wounded convict's comrade was disarmed.

PAPER TELLS OF DEATH OF WARREN P. DYSART MONDAY

Funeral of Former Lee Co. Man Held at Lu-verne, Thursday

The Rock County Herald, Luverne, Minn., of yesterday, contained the following account of the death of Warren P. Dysart, former Lee county citizen, whose death in Luverne, Monday morning, was briefly mentioned in The Telegraph:

Warren Patterson Dysart, one of Luverne's most progressive and generally liked citizens, reached the sunset of his long and active life early Monday morning at the Luverne hospital, where a week previously he had undergone an operation for a bowel trouble. While few of his many friends throughout the county were aware that he was ailing, his health had started to fail shortly before Thanksgiving and his condition had assumed a critical stage before he entered the hospital.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the Dysart home on West Lincoln street, the services being conducted by Rev. H. W. Bedford, of Lakefield, former pastor of the Luverne M. E. church, and by Rev. W. J. Robinson, present minister. The body was taken to Maplewood and placed in the chapel vault.

Born in Penna.

Warren P. Dysart was born May 9th, 1854, at Huntingdon, Pennsylvania, and when three years old accompanied his parents to Nachusa, Illinois, where he was reared to manhood. On December 28th, 1881, Mr. Dysart was united in marriage to Miss Alice Wertman and they continued to live in Lee county until 1893. In that year the family moved to Corwith, Iowa, where the following nine years were spent. In June, 1902, they came to Luverne, which had since been their home.

Two children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Dysart, Royce LeRoy, who died October 27th, 1922, at Nicollet, this state, and Mrs. Ada Knowlton, of Pipestone, who with Mrs. Dysart survives. Deceased is also survived by four brothers and three sisters. They are Joseph of Milroy; Ernest of Nachusa, Ill.; Lee and Edward B. Mrs. W. W. Wooley and Mrs. John Herbst of Dixon, Ill., and Mrs. Harvey Countryman of Edgar, Nebraska.

Ever since taking up his residence here Mr. Dysart had been greatly impressed with Luverne and Rock county as places of residence and had always been willing to lend his aid to their betterment. He was deeply in any movement that was designed for interest in religious and civic affairs and gave liberally of his time and energy to promoting any worthy community cause, and because of the energy and enthusiasm which he gave any movement that met with his approval, he was frequently found among the committee selected to carry on promotion campaigns.

Rural Mail Carrier

From April 1st, 1910, to September 30th, 1920, a period of more than ten years, Mr. Dysart served as mail carrier on rural route No. 5, and this work gave him an acquaintance throughout the county that he retained by virtue of his naturally cheery, companionable disposition.

A man of sterling integrity and high ideals, he enjoyed the confidence and esteem of all who knew him, and the announcement of his death came as a shock to his county-wide circle of acquaintances. All feel that by his death they have suffered a personal loss.

Among the relatives here to attend the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Scott Dysart and Joseph Dysart, of Milroy; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dysart of Nachusa, Ill.; Lee and Ed. E. Dysart, Mrs. W. W. Wooley and John Herbst of Dixon, Ill., Mrs. Harvey Countryman of Edgar, Nebraska, and Charles and Clarence Wertman of Milford, Nebraska.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"SPIRIT" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, February 5.

The Golden Text was from John 4:24, "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage. . . . This I say then. Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh" (Galatians 5:1, 16).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Rise in the strength of Spirit to resist all that is unlike good. God has made man capable of this, and nothing can vitiate the ability and power divinely bestowed on man" (p. 393).

FEAR KIDNAPERS

Chicago, Feb. 4—(AP)—The Lake Forest, Ill., estate of Charles H. Schweppe, Chicago millionaire, has been turned into the semblance of a fortress, it was learned today, as insurance against the kidnapping of the Schweppe children, John and Jean.

Guards were stationed at the Lake Forest estate last spring after Schweppe learned of a plot to kidnap the children.

A high iron fence, topped with spikes, has just been completed. Should trespassers get beyond this barrier, several ferocious dogs await them inside the grounds.

Two Dead, 9 Hurt in Crash of Cars

Canton, Ill., Feb. 4—(AP)—Wayne Pearson, 28, of St. David, was instantly killed; Raymond Bybee, 16, of Canton, died in a hospital here, and G. L. Hand, 30, of Galesburg, is believed fatally injured, as the result of a head-on automobile collision on Route 31 early this morning, in which nine persons were injured.

State's Attorney G. Ray Senif of Canton, has started an investigation. He declared the accident was the result of drunken driving. Both automobiles are total wrecks.

Wayne Pearson, who was driving a large touring car, was pinned under it when it turned over in a ditch and caught fire. Hand was with him, and three others less seriously injured. They were Miss Nita Lyons, Mrs. Anna Bell Gastori and Herman Lester of Lewistown.

Raymond Bybee with two other boys in the other automobile, had been picked up after running out of gasoline by Edward Larson of Canton and his companion in a small coupe. Bybee was riding on the left rear fender and when the cars met at a high speed and locked left front wheels, he was ground between them all.

All persons involved were hurt except Leonard Nelson, who was riding on the right fender and was thrown clear.

Appendicitis
By Arthur O. Hart, M. D., St. Johns, Mich. Member Gorgas Memorial

(The following is one of a series of articles prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial as part of its Better Health and Longer Life program. President Coolidge is the honorary president of the Memorial, which has been organized and endowed by prominent doctors and laymen throughout the country to perpetuate the work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness.)

Headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 400 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

Physicians are often asked, "What is the function of the appendix?" The only answer that can be given is that it has no known function except to cause trouble. It is the organ most subject to disease in the abdomen. It often can empty itself only with difficulty and has a blood circulation that is interfered with very easily. It constantly contains material swarming with bacteria, many of which can cause disease and, whenever it is unable to empty easily or its circulation is lessened, the lining membrane loses its normal resistance and is easily penetrated by the bacteria.

There is an old saying that "Disease always settles in the weakest part" and, as the appendix is the weakest organ in the human abdomen, any irritation of the bowels is very liable to cause inflammation of the appendix.

In one county of our state, which has nearly 25,000 population, there were, in 1915, about 96 cases of appendicitis, with 17 deaths—a revealing. A careful investigation revealed that proper and early surgical treatment would have saved most of these lives.

There is no medicinal treatment that will cure appendicitis or in any way influence it for the better, although rest in bed and no food or physic will result, in a majority of cases, in temporary recovery only to await future attacks. An appendix once diseased is always diseased. The diseased appendix is its surgical removal and, if this is done during the first twenty-four hours of the first attack, the loss will be less than one per cent. Surgical treatment later in the attack and during succeeding attacks may show a higher mortality rate. The next safest time to remove the appendix is three or four weeks after the acute attack and will result in a loss of less than one per cent for those who recover from the acute attack.

The safest thing to do when taken with a pain in the abdomen, is to call your physician at once, abstain from food and physic and, if he finds that you have appendicitis, go to the hospital and have it removed. If taken with appendicitis under circumstances which render it impossible to do this, take no food nor physic, stay in bed and, if fortunate enough to get over the attack, take only light or liquid food for two or three weeks, then go to your surgeon and have the appendix removed. If all could be persuaded to follow this course, the loss from this disease would drop to less than one in a hundred.

Most of the bad results are due to failure to call the physician early or to follow his advice when he is called. The hospital is by far the safest place to treat appendicitis.

War debts, the Rhineland occupation—France and Germany still clamoring over the consequences of the titanic struggle of ten years ago dominated the foreign news field during the early part of last week. But the sixth Pan-American conference at Havana came into the forefront at the very close of the week.

Probably the most important problem, in its widespread effects, which the Pan-American Conference has to consider, is that relating to intervention by one state into the affairs of another.

The policy of the United States in the Western Hemisphere is based on the principle that there are exceptions to the rule laid down by the Rio Janeiro jurists that no such intervention is permissible.

When the question came before the Committee on International Law, Dr. Victor Maurin of Peru expounded the principle that recognition of a state's rights was dependent on observance by that state of its obligations to other states. NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

GRACE EVANGELICAL CHURCH
North side, E. Fellows St. and N. Ottawa Ave.

Rev. Frank Brandt, Pastor.
The services yesterday were seasons of real blessing. The day of Prayer service under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society was one of blessing. The pastor gave a stirring message on "Prayer and Missions." The evening service was attended by a large appreciative audience. The pastor began a series of messages on Life and Death. The sermon subject last evening was "What is Death or Does death end all?" During the message which was characterized by many passages of Scripture it was clearly shown that the Bible teaches that there are three kinds of death spoken of by God: Spiritual, physical and eternal or second death. The fall of man incurred spiritual as well as physical death and if the sinner is not saved or born again he will have to experience the eternal death.

Next Sunday evening the vital subject to be considered will be: "Where are the Dead or does the Soul sleep?" During the services of the day thirteen new members were received and five received Christian Baptism.

Wednesday evening 7:30 is our family night for fellowship and prayer. We were pleased with the large number present last week and trust that we shall soon reach the goal of 100 per cent for prayer, praise and Bible study. The children and young people have a separate prayer group where they are growing in grace and in the knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ.

"There is life for a look at the crucified One."

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS PELTZER TO MEET HAHN IN KNIGHTS COLUMBUS EVENTS

That is If He Meets Him
at All: Waiting Home Rule

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The long-anticipated clash between Dr. Otto Peltzer and Lloyd Hahn will come in the Knights of Columbus meet at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 29 or not at all, it was indicated today.

With Hahn's refusal to go west for the Illinois A. C. games at Chicago, Feb. 10, the K. of C. Carnival apparently offers the only chance for a meeting between the rival middle distance stars.

Dr. Peltzer makes his second American appearance in the Illinois A. C. games in a 1,000 meter run. He has indicated that he will run in the K. of C. meet in his farewell, or return to Germany without making the third appearance allowed him by athletic authorities of his native land. Hahn already is entered in the Casey Mile at the K. of C. Carnival and negotiations are under way to have Peltzer enter the same event.

Whether this can be arranged or not apparently rests with the Amateur Athletic Union officials. They have interpreted a cable German authorities sent them Saturday as restricting Peltzer to a 14-day competitive period in this country. Peltzer, however, maintains that this 14-day period refers simply to the time during which his expenses will be paid. There is no restriction, he insists, so far as time goes, if he decides to pay his own expenses. He has cabled German authorities for a flat answer as to whether he can enter the K. of C. meet.

BACK IN CHICAGO
Chicago, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Dr. Otto Peltzer, German track star, came back from New York today to begin intensive training for the Illinois Athletic Club games Friday night.

One of the men entered against him is Ray Dodge, who has run many a winning race for the I. A. C. and who will prepare himself on the same track as the German. Word from New York is that Lloyd Hahn will not take part in the meet, although I. A. C. officials said they had expected him to be here.

The games Friday will be run on a dirt track, said to be more popular than the board tracks with most entries. Additional competition for Dr. Peltzer was seen in the entries of Ray Conner and Jack Strong.

Four crack college relay teams—Ames, Notre Dame, University of Michigan and the University of Iowa—are outstanding features of the meet.

Harold Osborn, holder of the world's record of 6 feet 8.1-4 inches, and Anton Burg, a probable Olympic entrant, are among the high jumpers to compete.

Bobby Cruickshank of Purchase, N. British and Yanks
All Square Today

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—England and America entered the second and concluding day's play in their international racquets series today all square.

The teams split even in two doubles matches in the opening day's competition yesterday. J. C. F. Simpson and C. N. Bruce, the crack British pair, defeated Clarence C. Pell and Stanley G. Mortimer, of New York, in three straight games, 12-14, 15-10, 15-11. Simpson and Bruce on Saturday dethroned Pell and Mortimer as national doubles champions after the Americans had held the title since 1915.

Charles J. Coulter and Hewitt Morgan of New York brought the international series to a tie by defeating the British team of P. W. Kemp-Welch and George Huban in a five-game match, 6-15, 18-13, 15-10, 9-15, 15-11.

Three singles matches close the competition today. Pell is paired against Simpson; Mortimer against Bruce, and Morgan against Kemp-Welch.

To the team winning three of the five matches will go an international trophy put into competition for the first time by the racquets and tennis club.

Many Outfielders

Chicago, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Johnny Mostil, White Sox hero of the 1926 season, attempting a comeback after being out of the game last season, has presented the problem of too much rather than too little talent for the Sox outfield.

The Whiting, Ind., star, who has been training hard since his recovery from a suicide attempt during last year's training season, has been pronounced in better condition than ever before. He was confident that he would be able to make the grade, an opinion apparently shared by Manager Ray Schalk.

Bib Falk in left was the only certainty in the Sox Outfield, but Alex Metzler also was sure to play. If Mostil can show his old form, he will return to center, and Metzler to right. Otherwise Metzler will take Mostil's position and Barrett, Reynolds and McCors will fight it out for right field.

MICHIGAN HOLDS HOPES AND FEAR OF CONFERENCE

Wolverines' Game With Purdue This Week to be Crucial One

Chicago, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Michigan's fast team held both the hopes and fears of conference leaders today as the Big Ten basketball race entered upon its home stretch.

The leaders hoped the Maize and Blue machine, which has already won three consecutive victories, would crush Purdue in their game at Ann Arbor Saturday thereby toppling the Boilermakers from first place. Likewise, they feared to meet Benjie Oosterbaan and his mates as they must do before they can end the season.

Of the six conference games this week, the Michigan-Purdue game will be the most important. A defeat for Purdue likewise would scramble the race.

Two conference games will be played tonight but neither is considered important. Ohio State will play at Chicago and Minnesota at Iowa. Purdue will have a warming-up session for the Michigan game by tackling Franklin College at Lafayette.

Another important game of the week is the Northwestern-Illinois game at Urbana Wednesday.

Wisconsin will return to the floor after an absence of three weeks when it meets Notre Dame in a non-conference game at Madison tomorrow night. Saturday the Badgers will play Minnesota, also at Madison. Indiana will return to conference play Saturday, meeting Iowa at Bloomington.

In Saturday night's games, Michigan defeated Chicago, 28 to 19, and Ohio State surprised Minnesota, 42 to 40. Branch McCracken of Indiana is still leading the individual scorers of the conference with 57 points, although Russell Walters of Northwestern gained on him and jumped into second place last week, displacing Bud Foster of Wisconsin who is in third. Walters has scored 47 points and Foster 43.

Three Fine Feather- Weights Will Fight

Chicago, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Three of America's crack featherweights—four if Bud Taylor, the bantamweight champion is included—will throw gloves at one another this week, two going on here Thursday and two meeting in New York the following evening.

Joey Sangor of Milwaukee, who showed his class in a New York ring recently, returns here for a scrap with Taylor. Although Taylor does his best fighting at 118 pounds, his effectiveness against several prominent featherweights, including Tony Canzonieri of New York, has lent respect to his work in the heavier classification.

The New York fight brings together Canzonieri and Benny Bass, the latter holding the national boxing association title. Taylor holds a decision over Canzonieri and has fought him to a draw in their two meetings here, but Canzonieri evened things by taking a decision when they met several weeks ago in New York.

SPEAKER SIGNS WITH MACK FOR COMING SEASON

Veteran "Spoke" Has Come to Terms With Athletics Chief

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Tris Speaker has landed with the Philadelphia Athletics.

The veteran outfielder, who was released a few days ago by the Washington Senators, came to terms with Connie Mack and as a result will report at the Athletics' training quarters at Fort Meyers, March 1. Speaker arrived in New York yesterday from a hunting trip and arranged details by telephone with Mack, who is vacationing at Mount Plymouth, Fla.

Mack's signing of Speaker fills a gap made in the Philadelphia outfield by the release of Ty Cobb and Zach Wheat. Last season "Spoke" it is understood, received a salary from the Senators ranging from $40,000 to $50,000 which price was an obstacle this year for a renewal of contract.

Speaker declined to accept a reduction, as suggested by Clark Griffith of the Washington Club.

Nether Tris nor Mack would comment on the salary arrangement.

"I'm satisfied with the terms and so is Connie," Speaker said. Mack paid Cobb a huge sum last year, some reports quoting his services commanding as high as $60,000 which would be $10,000 under Babe Ruth's annual check from Colonel Ruppert.

The addition of Speaker to the Philadelphia roster will give Mack a veteran outfield with Tris as center, Al Simmons at left and Bing Miller in the right corner.

Speaker commented on his stay with the Senators as a most pleasant relationship and referred to Bucky Harris as one of the greatest managers in baseball.

As to his new affiliations, the "Gray Eagle" said the Athletics had fine prospects and that he looked forward to playing under Mack with great satisfaction.

To Start Field House

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 6.—(AP)—The early sell-out of tickets for the Purdue-Indiana basketball game to be played here Saturday, will enable Indiana to begin work on the new $300,000 field house next week.

At both Purdue and Indiana basketball is a most important sport and thousands of ticket seekers for the game were disappointed.

Indiana's new structure will be built of Indiana stone with a capacity of 15,000. It will be 300 feet long by 250 wide.

Game is Uncertain

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Athletic authorities at Nebraska University today promised definite word, probably before the end of the week, concerning the negotiations having for their object a Nebraska-Army football game next fall.

Herb Gish, acting athletic director, returned from West Point yesterday following several days of discussion with army officials. He said there has been no definite decision either way concerning the proposed conflict.

SPORT SLANTS

BY ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The huddle system of deciding on athletic maneuvers has spread generally since Bill Roper started to make it popular on eastern gridirons a few years ago.

It seems to be necessary, for instance, for Doctor Otto Peltzer to go into a huddle with Amateur Athletic Union officials every time the German schoolmaster displays a desire to get off the marks. It took at least six separate and distinct huddles before the Doctor finally galloped out to win his first race in the Millrose meet.

Doctor Peltzer will not make more than three racing starts while in the United States but he will get plenty of exercise sprinting from one conference to another.

The difficulty with these huddles is to put any time limit on them as is done on the football field. Gene Tunney and Tex Rickard have been huddling together on Florida links for some time without yet disclosing the signals for the next big fight play. The chief development so far has been to put Jack Dempsey on the side-lines.

Perhaps Rickard has borrowed the Rockne system and decided to save Dempsey for the second half of this year's heavyweight championship game, meanwhile using Delaney, Sharkey, Risko and Heeney as shock troops.

The Pan American Conference and Lindbergh may not have had anything to do with it but the United States and Mexico are paired in the first round of the Davis Cup tournament, anyway.

This will develop a curious situation if Robert Kinsey, a former co-holder of the American doubles championship, is again a member of Mexico's Davis cup team.

Kinsey satisfied the tennis authorities last year that for competitive purposes he was a Mexican. He married a Mexican girl, established a residence in Mexico City and played in the Davis Cup matches against Japan at St. Louis last summer.

Brother Howard Kinsey, who helped brother Robert lift the national doubles title in 1924 at Longwood, is now a professional, which is the same thing as being a Mexican so far as helping the United States in this year's Davis Cup play is concerned.

The latest tip on Finland's Olympic preparations is that the famous phantom, Paavo Nurmi, may pass up the shorter distances and run the marathon at Amsterdam.

This will be Paavo's third Olympia and possibly his last.

He is represented as being anxious to cap his career by leading the pack over the long grind, adding his name to those of his countrymen, Kohlainen and Stenroos, previous winners of the classic.

On the other hand Paavo seems a bit young to take up the marathon. He is only about 32 and most Finns don't go in for the longer route until they are around 40. The older they are the longer they run.

Moreover Nurmi has a score or two to settle with Peltzer and Wide, who beat him in Berlin last summer. To do so he will be obliged to meet them at 1500 or 5000 meters, at both of which distances the Finn holds the Olympic championship. He won them in a single afternoon at Paris four years ago because neither one, alone, offered him sufficient exercise for a day.

If there are any important tennis titles that France's agile Davis Cup players haven't won within the last year it's probably because they haven't heard of them.

Jumping Jean Borotra has just traveled half way around the world to win the Australian championship. He also holds the American indoor title. Rene Lacoste defeated Tilden for the French and American grows while Henri Cochet lifted the British honors at Wimbledon.

PLOT FRUSTRATED

Chicago, Feb. 4.—(AP)—An extortion and kidnaping plot, involving his uncle and eight-year-old niece, has been frustrated, police said today with the arrest of Max Cohen, 21, the nephew.

The youth explained he needed money to marry Miss Gale Kozak, 20, of Michigan City, Ind. After his arrest he begged his uncle, Ignatz Victory for leniency, but the relative said he would insist the youth be punished by law.

Young Cohen made the first demands upon his uncle four weeks ago police said, when he named $10,000 as the amount. Victor trailed by detectives, had made and tried to keep several appointments with Cohen, but each time the man failed to appear.

Later a telephone message warned Victor not to attempt to deliver the money with detectives and threatened to kidnap and kill Victor's daughter, Erma.

Last night the youth telephoned his uncle again. Police instructed Victor to keep the man in conversation and the two haggled over terms. It was agreed that Victor was to meet the youth within an hour and pay him $5,000. As young Cohen hung up the receiver, police, who had traced the call to a drugstore telephone booth, arrested him.

Earning Money Out of Waste

Samuel Crowther in the Country Gentleman says, "A corporation has no mystic powers. The greatest corporate economies are in the direction of earning money out of what is now waste".

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) agrees with Mr. Crowther's deduction. This Company believes that by utilizing material which otherwise would be waste and converting it into usable products, it is performing a service of signal value to society.

One of the greatest corporate economies of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been its ability to earn money out of waste. Through the years this Company has been striving to get out of the natural resource, petroleum, all of its potential usefulness to man.

In addition to gasoline and oil, hundreds of by-products have been developed to meet hundreds of various needs.

This has meant keeping closely in touch with the changing needs of man—anticipating new requirements—keeping a finger on the pulse of progress.

It has meant constant, never-ending scientific work.

Did you ever stop to think where the oil for a sewing machine comes from? How asphalt is made? What's in the polish you use to brighten the finish of your car?

These products were not found in the earth as they are. They did not happen! Whose ideas were they? You will never know!

Patient men of science worked them out in the quiet of unknown laboratories, experimenting, making thousands and thousands of tests. The petroleum products that you use today are the achievements of years of effort. The reason they give such satisfaction is because they were slowly, gradually, carefully perfected to give the results desired.

The development of by-products from petroleum has helped to keep the cost of production of major products at a minimum—and has earned money out of waste.

Adequate capital, adequately equipped scientific laboratories—the time and effort of a staff of men scientifically trained and endowed with special abilities—have made it possible for the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to earn money out of waste—and to pass on the benefits to all the people of the Middle West.

There is nothing mystic about the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) or its powers. It is simply a group of hard working people earning money, earning respect, earning friendship by "delivering the goods". Its powers are the powers of earnest effort and sincere purpose.
